Position Your Organization as a Best Place to Work in Southeast Minnesota

Workforce Development, Inc is once again going to identify the Best Places to Work in Southeast Minnesota. "There are some great employers in our communities. This survey becomes a tool to help them recruit and retain the best employees. We want to recognize our best employers and provide valuable data to help all of our employers identify what they do well and where they have room for improvement", said Randy Johnson, Executive Director, Workforce Development, Inc.

The Best Places to Work is a national program that recognizes the best employers in local communities. Workforce Development, Inc. will survey companies within Freeborn, Mower, Rice, Steele, Goodhue, Olmsted, Houston, Dodge, Fillmore and Wabasha Counties to identify the Best Places to Work in Southeast Minnesota. This is the eighth year in a row that Workforce Development, Inc. has sponsored this program for Southeast Minnesota.

Workforce Development, Inc. will be recognizing employers in multiple size categories.

Each local organization participating in the Best Places to Work survey will be asked to complete a 40 question, online survey. Personnel Dynamics Consulting Group, of Florida will collect the information, analyze the data, and provide the results. Every organization participating in the survey will receive a confidential report detailing the results of the survey and identifying what employers are offering in the areas of benefits, training and development, paid time off, performance management programs, growth, advancement and many more. The survey reports on information all business leaders should know. The report is FREE for every Company that participates in the survey.

The Best Places to Work survey is available at <http://personneldynamics.net/survey.asp> until February 24, 2017. Those wishing to participate may contact Jakki Trihey, Workforce Development Inc. at 507.529.2701 or via email at jakkitrihey@workforcedevelopmentinc.org for more information.
